

ORWELLISM IF YOU SUSPECT IT RESIST IT

ORWELLISTS TAKE PICTURES

But don't like you returning the favour. In the UK there are no legal restrictions on taking photos in a public area. If there were, CCTV would be illegal. Anyone who forcibly stops you using a camera in the street is committing a crime by infringing your civil liberties.

ORWELLISTS AREN'T AS CLEVER AS THEY THINK

Keeping tabs on people with ID cards and national databases may sound like a good way to catch criminals but it's really just a good way to make sure your personal details end up being left on a bus.

ORWELLISTS WANT YOU TO BEHAVE

Have you noticed strangely heavy-handed police presence at a peaceful gathering or protest? Have you been subjected to pointless and invasive security procedures when you've done nothing wrong? Training people to accept being pushed around helps the government dispense with any accountability.

ORWELLISTS TALK NONSENSE

If everyone knew everyone else's business there would be no business, no surprise birthdays and no privacy. Watch out for ridiculous posters or adverts which try to make us suspicious of each other rather than letting everyone get on with their lives.
